The Community Foundation Welcomes New Trustees and Chairperson

Boulder County (June 18, 2010) - Three new Trustees have joined The Community Foundation's Board of Trustees. Michael Matthews, Gerry Agnes, and David Brantz will share their diverse expertise and capabilities to benefit Boulder County. Helen Gemmill will serve as the Board's new Chairperson.

The Community Foundation exists to improve the quality of life in Boulder County, now and forever, and to build a culture of giving. The Foundation connects the resources of local donors with non-profit organizations to facilitate philanthropy in meaningful and useful ways.

Helen Gemmill—Helen Gemmill has a background in international development (BA, Middlebury College, International Studies and French Literature, 2000) and environmentalism (MA, Naropa University, Environmental Leadership, 2005). In those capacities, she taught high-school-level French and Spanish and founded and quadrupled the annual revenue for the Individual Giving program at Global Greengrants Fund from 2005-2009. Gemmill will matriculate at the University of Denver's Korbel School of International Studies to pursue a Ph.D. in international water conflict in the fall of 2010. In addition to serving as the new Chair of The Community Foundation's Board of Trustees, Gemmill currently sits on the boards of the Women Donors Network, the White House Project, Global Greengrants Fund, and The Warwick Foundation of Bucks County. She resides in Boulder and is a native of New Hampshire.

Mike Matthews—Mike Matthews is Wells Fargo's Regional President for the Northern Colorado Region and offices at Wells Fargo's main Boulder location on the Pearl Street Mall. He manages a team of nearly 600 financial services professionals who work with local businesses and individuals to meet all of their financial needs and help them succeed financially. Matthews has more than 30 years of financial services experience and is a 22-year Wells Fargo veteran. Prior to being named to his current position in 2008, he served as Community Banking president and area manager for Wells Fargo's Suburban Business Banking team in Denver. Before that he was Community Banking president for Pueblo and Gunnison and senior vice president and manager for Business Banking in Colorado Springs. Throughout his career, Matthews has always been actively involved as a community leader. He serves as the Vice Chairman for the State of Colorado Economic Development Commission, is on the Boulder Economic Council, a board member for the University of Colorado President's Leadership Class, and is a new Trustee for The Community Foundation.

Gerry Agnes—Gerry Agnes is President, CEO of Elevations Credit Union. In addition to working with the Board of Directors in matters of strategy, governance and policy, Agnes leads a senior leadership team in developing and executing the credit union's vision and strategies. He is a CPA and has 25 years of professional experience in the financial services industry. Prior to becoming CEO of Elevations Credit Union, Agnes was with $936 Million Altura Credit Union in Riverside, California where he served in a series of positions, including President/Chief Operating Officer; President of their subsidiary holding company that managed their insurance, mortgage, escrow and auto broker companies; and Chief Financial Officer. Prior to Altura, Agnes was the President/CEO of The Community Foundation serving Riverside & San Bernardino Counties; Chief Financial Officer of California Financial Bancorp; and Executive Vice President of HF Bancorp, Inc. and its subsidiary, Hemet Federal Savings and Loan Association. Agnes began his career as a CPA with Touche Ross & Co., a "big eight" accounting firm, and has served on numerous Boards of professional and community-based organizations. Presently, he serves on the Board of Managers of CU Service Network, LLC, the Board of Trustees for The Community Foundation, and on the Executive Committee of the Boulder Economic Council.

David Brantz—David Brantz is an attorney at Stover & Spitz, LLC, and his practice focuses on estate planning, trust administration, probate, real estate and business law. Brantz graduated from the University of Colorado School of Law in 2006, and he also attended CU as an undergraduate, receiving a bachelor's degree in finance in 2000 from The University of Colorado Leeds School of Business. He is a current member of the Boulder County Estate Planning Council and is actively involved in the Boulder County Bar Association's Taxation, Estate Planning and Probate Section and the Colorado Bar Association's Trust and Estate Section. In addition to being a new Trustee of The Community Foundation, Brantz serves as a member of the Foundation's Legal Committee.
